PART I

1. Background and Advice

The Police and Crime Commissioner and Chief Constable will recall that they entered into a Section 22 collaboration agreement in December 2017 for the provision of armed police officers from the Civil Nuclear Constabulary to support Home Office Forces in the event that Operation Temperer is authorised by Ministers.

The Civil Nuclear Constabulary (CNC) is an armed police service created by the Energy Act 2004 and is responsible for the armed protection of certain categories of nuclear material in transit within the UK and internationally.

This revised agreement has been requested following conversations with divisional commanders. It has been identified that whilst all of the current categories for deployment require the provision of armed resources, it is understood that for certain joint patrolling initiatives it is not always necessary for CNC officers to be armed.

Therefore, a revised collaborative arrangement has been established for the provision of Police Officers from the Civil Nuclear Constabulary (CNC) to support Lancashire Constabulary in the event of

- (i) a Marauding Terrorist Attack (Operation Plato),
- (ii) any other incident where there is threat to life or risk of serious injury,
- (iii) joint policing initiatives intending to improve inter-operability between forces and to enhance effectiveness and/or efficiency of either or both of the collaborating forces, within the geographical areas of the Home Offices forces who are signatories to this agreement.

This agreement replaces the previous agreement entered into on the 20 December 2017 (Decision 2017/41).

1. Links to the Police and Crime Plan

CNC officers will be deployed under the direction of the National Police Operations Coordination Centre and into specific operation roles in support of the national response to a terrorist emergency.

3. Implications

a. Risks

There are no identified risks. The CNC are currently working with Government to find longer term solutions but this is likely to involve legislative changes so could take some time.

The agreement provides a termination clause allowing parties to the agreement to withdraw by serving a 3 month written notice on the other parties.

b. Legal

The Police and Crime Commissioner for Lancashire has the power under Section 23 of the Police Act 1996 to make this decision to enter into a collaborative agreement.

Section 22A of the Police Act 1996 requires the parties to a force collaboration agreement to include each Chief Constable and each policing body. The Agreement has been drawn up to comply with the provisions of the Police Act 1996 in respect of a collaboration agreement.

There are no legal issues arising from the Agreement.

c. Financial

In the event of deployment in Lancashire, the Police and Crime Commissioner shall meet any other costs which are reasonably incurred.

d. Equality considerations
